Renovated house in La Bisbal d'Empordà with a large 300 m garden and bright spaces that convey comfort and possibilities. Upon entering, a hallway with spaces with a large glass door connects to a spacious open-plan room and a covered cellobert with stained glass windows that flood with natural light without direct exposure to the elements. An exterior staircase leads to the first floor, which includes a terrace connected to a double bedroom with large closets. On this floor there is also a diaphanous bedroom, a complete bathroom and a large distributor that can serve as an additional room, a balcony and a cellobert. On the upper floor, a large terrace offers a perfect space for moments of tranquility.
